
The Declaration of the Rights of Man and of Citizens Dodo Press

By Georg Jellinek

Dodo Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 76 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 5.9in. x 0.2in.Georg Jellinek (1851-1911) was a German legal philosopher. He is associated with legal positivism but is critical of that theory on the grounds that law should be understood as having an intrinsic relationship with society. He defined the law as an ethical minimum. Jellinek is best known for his essay The Declaration of the Rights of Man and of Citizens (1895), which argues for a universal theory of rights, as opposed to the culturally and nationally specific arguments then in vogue. He argued that the French Revolution, which was the focal point of 19th century political theory, should not be thought of as arising from a purely French tradition, but as a close analogue of revolutionary movements and ideas in England and the United States. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Paperback.

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE
[8.56 MB]

Reviews

This ebook is definitely not effortless to start on studying but extremely enjoyable to read through. It can be loaded with knowledge and wisdom You will not feel monotony at whenever you want of your time (that's what catalogs are for concerning should you request me).
-- Vincenzo Collins

Extensive guideline for book fanatics. Sure, it is engage in, nonetheless an amazing and interesting literature. I am effortlessly can get a delight of studying a composed pdf.
-- Rhea Dare