Julian Hawthorne was the son of famous American author Nathaniel Hawthorne, and while he wasnt as critically acclaimed as his father, Julian also wrote several works of fiction and histories. This is a memoir of the authors life looking back over his career and his regrets. From the start of the work: In 1869, when I was about twenty-three years old, I sent a couple of sonnets to the revived Putnams Magazine. At that period I had no intention of becoming a professional writer: I was studying civil engineering at the Polytechnic School in Dresden, Saxony. Years before, I had received parental warningsunnecessary, as I thoughtagainst writing for a living. During the next two years, however, when I was acting as hydrographic engineer in the New York Dock Department, I amused myself by writing a short story, called Love and Counter-Love, which was published in Harpers Weekly, and for which I was paid fifty dollars. If fifty dollars can be so easily earned, I thought, why not go on adding to my income in this way from time to time I was aided and abetted in the idea by the late Robert Carter, editor of Appletons Journal; and the latter periodical and Harpers Magazine had the burden, and I the benefit, of the result. When, in 1872, I was abruptly relieved from my duties in the Dock Department, I had the alternative of either taking my family down to Central America to watch me dig a canal, or of attempting to live by my pen. I bought twelve reams of large letter-paper, and began my first work This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
