In that county, it was calculated that one-fifth of the land was occupied by thorn hedges! The fields were small, generally from three to five acres. The hedges were in bad condition, and formed a nursery for all kinds of weeds. On many farms the interior fences are now thrown down and the hurdle fence introduced with the greatest success. It may be necessary to premise that it is not contemplated to run hurdles around all the lots where fences formerly existed, by any means. No fences are necessary for the separation of grain crops, but only around pasture allotments, or where cattle may be allowed temporarily to graze. Permanent, and if possible, live fences, such as thorn, should be run round the exterior of every farm, and these, were it only for good neighborhood, ought to be kept to be constructed, enclosing door-yard, garden, orchard and banyard, With regard to the farm, great division lines ought to be laid permanently down, as always m-em: 1, either for shelter or division. Bupposejhe following to represent a small farm of 80 acres: in good condition. Around the homestead, permanent fences ought The black lines represent the permanent fences, exterior and interior--the dotted lines the division of crops without any fences-the parallel lines thehurdle fence. A glance at the above plan will show that the farm is divided in the middle by apermanent fence, and that theland to the right of this line is...
