Excerpt: .the secretory cell of the liver selects substances from which it can elaborate bile and glycogen; the muscle-fiber assimilates those that will promote the changes upon which the power of contractility depends. We know that the proteid compounds contain the most essential elements for the formation of all forms of tissue, and that phosphate of lime is a necessary factor in the hardening of bone, but we are utterly ignorant of the process by which each tissue element is enabled to select the particular substance it needs and to reject that which it does not require. Metabolism.--Our bodies are masses of changing atoms, some of which, we may say, are on the up grade, to construct the various tissues, and some on the down grade, to form the waste matters that are the final products of the tissues activity. These changes, which are going...
