There have been many records from which material has been drawn. The Legendas of 1898, 1906 and 1908 have accounts of the various festival days, and histories of certain college organizations. The News and Magazine have published from time to time short descriptions of by-gone Tree Days, and Floats, and the Historical Committee of the Alumnae Association has preserved a splendid collection of original documents, such as programs and back files of college publications, which contain a great deal of valuable and interesting material. This book has tried to bring together, from all these sources, as much information as possible concerning the ceremonies and customs of undergraduate life. To the authors of the Legendas, the editors of the Magazines, and above all to the...
