V. SALTNESS OF THE SEA. 32. Sea-water is salt; and, except the Caspian Sea, whose waters are a little brackish, the waters of all lakes and rivers are mild, sweet, and fit for human purposes. IUus. 1. Salt is one of the original principles in nature, and is mixed, in greater or less quantities, with all other substances. All rivers run into the sea, and therefore carry some salt with them; but no rivers run out of it, nor is any water taken out of it, except by exhalation and evaporation; and no salt ascends in either of these ways; it has consequently been inferred, without supposing great beds of...
