Zhu Jianjun . The book not only can be used as economic class. management class professional senior undergraduate and graduate textbooks. system modeling and simulation technology readers. but also a suitable self-reference. Executive summary System Modeling and Simulation (institutions of higher learning in the 21st century materials) Industrial Engineering Series edited by those NATIONAL DEFENCE. Zhu Jianjun. System Modeling and Simulation (institutions of higher learning in the 21st century materials) Industrial Engineering Series of the number of years of Bu application of mathematical model and simulation technology to teach the course on the basis of economic class. management class professional characteristics. and the outcome of absorbing domestic and foreign excellent system modeling and simulation of materials widely concise. Book a systematic exposition of the system modeling. the basic concepts of system simulation. the basic principles. the basic method and its application steps and implementation process. the main contents include the theories and methods of system modeling. system simulation methods and technology. continuous system modeling and simulation technology. modeling and simulation of discrete event systems. gray system modeling method. learning. and evolutionary model. based on the simulink system simulation and system dynamics model and simulation technology. The end of each chapter are equipped with a certain number of exercises Questions. and in the appendix provides...
