Excerpt from Report of the President of Bowdoin College for the Academic Year 1899-1900 The course in government, hitherto covering two terms only of the Senior year, has been expanded by the introduction of a course on the elements of international law, so as to form a single Consecutive course throughout the Senior year. In order to provide room for the new courses in the schedule of recitations and also in order that proper provision may be made for adequate research and writing outside of the preparation for the regular recitations, these courses which have hitherto occupied four hours a week in the schedule, have been reduced to three scheduled hours.
