ABC-CLIO, United States, 2002. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Educators often look for reference material that provides additional information to help spark their students interest in learning. Tidbits of trivia and handouts are two ways teachers can reinforce subject material or provide incentives for research purposes. This book of facts on reproducible bookmarks combines the two methods to motivate students to learn. Each bookmark features educational information and/or just plain fun facts on a topic related to an upper elementary or middle school curriculum. All major curriculum areas are addressed, including language arts, math, history and government, geography, and science. Bookmarks covering topics such as important people, daily life, inventions and technology, and arts and entertainment are also included. Blank bookmarks may be given to students to design their own. References and an index make this resource practical and easy-to-use. These unique bookmarks will allow students to learn more about subjects across the curriculum, and may even spark an interest into looking for information on subjects not previously considered. - Over 550 reproducible bookmarks for grades 4-6, filled with fun facts and trivia - Bookmarks are easy to reproduce and cut apart for your students - Use bookmarks to reinforce concepts, to motivate students to learn, or as rewards - Blank bookmarks are included---students can design their own and trade.
