Excerpt: . . . Quite the contrary. We look to Bell Brothers salt works on the north side of the Tees--our side--influencing the Tyne chemical industries and bringing them to Middlesbrough. But Middlesbrough has no facilities for exporting; we have. We are close, as you say; and the chemicals, and c, will come for shipment here. Have you any difficulty in obtaining cargoes None whatever. Look at this little map; you will see that the docks lie close to the South Durham coal-field. Indeed, some of the principal shipping collieries are so near that loads can be got down direct two hours after the vessel that wants coal has entered the port. Are you equally as rapid in loading Certainly. There are twenty spouts of the pattern best liked in the district, besides twenty old coal drops for the smaller vessels. We can load steamers at the rate...
