The man, called C., is on a journey into an unknown frontier. He finds a pill in his pocket, swallows it, and a hallucination begins. In the next scene, C. has a discussion with a prostitute. She asks him about his hand, which is missing two fingers, and he replies evasively. Next, the story takes up the Clerk, as C. the child is called. Ignoring his mother s call, Clerk stands over the crib of the baby who died, lost in dreams of absolute liberation. He meets the Bawa, who is tied to Clerk in a way he never comes to understand. Gradually, C. s emotional origins are coming into focus. As the chapters accumulate, piecing together a trauma that created this older man, trapped in a city that reflects his own sense of isolation. However, as C. has begun to thaw, to become conscious of his monochromatic world, he is confronted with the stranger of himself. He begins to search of salvaging himself. In an urban...
