These are not alkaline tablets, but a substitute which was put on the market by a New York firm. The outfit furnished consisted of four packages of paper discs made of filter paper, each of about the size of an old-style copper cent; two packages of square paper; one glass of about 10 cc. capacity, and one small Preservaline is the trade name of an antiseptic extensively advertized for preservng milk and cream. It consis2s essentially of boracie acid and borax, the use of which in milk and other dairy products offered for sale, is prohibited by law in many states. glass bottle. The directions stated that each paper disc represented.1 per cent. acidity when added to the small glassful of milk or cream, with two of the square papers, the whole to be well haken in the long glass bottle. The acidity of the sample of milk or cream was claimed to be measured by counting the number of round papers required to produce a pink color in the sample tested. An investigation of the reliability of these Tabs soon disclosed the fact that they were entirely inaccurate, and that no dependence could therefore be put on the results obtained by their use. A report of the comparative work done in testing the acidity of milk or cream by a one-tenth normal alkali solution and these Alkaline Tabs was...
