Excerpt from Tables of Solutions to Bragg s Equation for Copper, Cobalt, Iron, and Chromium K? Radiation and Small Diffraction Angles Small angle x-ray scattering is a basic tool in the study of materials with very large periodicities and in the determination of both size and distribution of particles. Even though this tech nique is widely used in many laboratories there is an apparent lack of accessible tables of solutions to Bragg s equation for both suitably small diffraction angles and suitably small angular incre ments. with this in mind, tables of such solutions for Ka radia tion of four of the most commonly used target elements, Cu, Co, Fe, and Cr, are presented for 26 ranging from to degrees in increments of degree, and from to radian in increments of radian. These tables were prepared with the aid of an electronic digital computer and the Bragg equation $d l/(z \sin$ The solutions are rounded off to five digits.
