This is a true, strange record of hours, won alongside an accounting of odd discoveries, beautifully captured photographs and the spinning of flying tales. It is a story of love and a nearly forgotten secret: Airplanes were the original Internet-invented to bring people in this world together. Words from a dead pilot recalled in a freezing rainstorm and memories of singing TV hillbillies ignite the spark for a college professor to do something no one has ever tried. He is joined by a Vietnam-era flight surgeon and the unlikely pair set out to fly a couple of aviations holy relics to Wright Brothers Airport in Dayton. Its the 75th anniversary of the airplane that taught a half-million veterans to fly. Take off with them--in the wrong direction. Fly from sunrise to sunset for 10 days; low enough to smile at farmers; slow enough to count your blessings. Cover 44, 825 square miles and land in every Ohio county, claiming a peculiar world record while nearly 50, 000 people follow. You have uncovered a tribe of kindred souls and they invite you again to dream.
