I hereby submit to you my report respecting the work in English Language and Literature during the year just ended. Courses One and-Seven. English Grammar and Speeches. Conducted by Mr. Demmon. These Courses are identical, and one of them is required of all students for graduation. During the past year one hundred and forty-six students took this work. The classes completed Abbott s How to Write Clearly, and the chapters in How to Parse that treat of Difficulties and Irregularities of Modern English. Two original speeches were required of each student. The manuscripts, nearly three hundred in number, were all carefully criticised by the instructor and returned to the student to be rewritten, if necessary, and to be committed to memory and spoken before the class. There is great need among our students for this sort of training. Further practice in writing and a more thorough course in reading and speaking than we are now able to give, are urgent needs of this department of the University. Courses Two and Eight. Rhetoric: Theory and Practice. Conducted by Mr. Demmon. These Courses are also identical, and one of them is required for graduation in all Courses except the Civil Engineering. Seventy-one students took this work during the year. Hill s Science of Rhetoric was used as a text-book. Each student was required to present...
