Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Seven Southern Tales Plus One, a collection of short stories born from Mississippi memories and imagination, span race, class, and time. These stories pulsate with Southern life sprinkled by the hopes, fears, assertions, and misconceptions that rule the characters lives. In Through the Mist a young man faces life and pain after his father s disappearance by discovering a gift, a promise his father had given him, when he enters a painting of a mallard in a stamp contest. Swing Low Sweet Chariot chronicles the relationship of a young White girl to her Black maid in 1964 Mississippi, and how racism leads them into peril when a Black woman appears at the door of the White peoples church one Sunday morning. Gator Tale recounts a couple s journey as their marriage is set on a new course by the appearance, and disappearance, of a vicious alligator. In Dreamtravel, ancient spiritual roots from Africa drag a young woman back to the days of slavery from which family wisdom, remembered and respected, is the only avenue of escape. Prohibition Mississippi sets the stage for Mardi Gras Ball with the governor and society s elite celebrating, unaware they are on the brink of social change. Yet change does come. De-evolution unfolds in a town bracing for a class four hurricane that blows more than houses apart. Friends huddle together for safety, but the greatest threat is not the hurricane. It is someone emboldened by the chaos and driven by hatred. Help does come but from an unexpected source. The Devil Beats His Wife, an old Southern saying for erratic summer weather when it rains and the sun shines simultaneously, parallels an...
