Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 568 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 1.1in. Excerpt from The Foundations of Science Sir George Darwin, worthy son of an immortal father, said, referring to what Poincare was to him and to his work: He must be regarded as the presiding genius or, shall I say, my patron saint Henri Poincare was born April 29, 1854, at Nancy, where his father was a physician highly respected. His schooling was broken into by the war of 1870-71, to get news of which he learned to read the German newspapers. He outclassed the other boys of his age in all subjects and in 1873 passed highest into the Ecole Polytechnique, where, like John Bolyai at Maros Vasarhely, he followed the courses in mathematics without taking a note and without the syllabus. He proceeded in 1875 to the School of Mines, and was Nomme, March 26, 1879. But he won his doctorate in the University of Paris, August 1, 1879, and was appointed to teach in the Faculte des Sciences de Caen, December 1, 1879, whence he was quickly called to the University of Paris, teaching there from October 21, 1881, until his death,...

Reviews

An exceptional pdf and the typeface utilized was fascinating to read through. It can be written in straightforward words and phrases instead of confusing. I am just quickly could possibly get a delight of looking at a written ebook.

-- Prof. Arlie Bogan

It is a single of the best book. This is for those who state there had not been a well worth reading through. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
