Excerpt: . . . 11 stall new science instruments that will improve the Hubbles observational capabilities and to replace batteries and gyroscopes that will allow the Hubble to continue operating through 2013. Heliophysics The Presidents FY09 budget request for NASA includes 577. 3 million in direct program dollars for the Heliophysics theme, which seeks to understand the Sun and its effect on the Earth and the rest of the solar system; the conditions in the space environment and their effects on astronauts; and to develop and demonstrate technologies to predict space weather. The FY09 request represents a decrease of 267. 6 million in direct dollars from the FY08 appropriation, due in large part to the programmatic and budgetary transfer of Deep Space Network and ground network systems ( approximately 250 million ) to the Space Operations Mission Directorate. The program funds: Heliophysics research, including research and analysis; space missions; sounding rockets and other scientific platforms; science data and computing...
