Excerpt: . . . 11 and to seek prevention, response, and reconstitution solutions. The safety of our Nation is of course our first and foremost overriding objective. The Justice Department has been working across government to address infrastructure issues for several years. However, the attacks of September 11 have heightened our awareness of these issues and created a new sense of urgency. U. S. infrastructure protection efforts are the shared responsibility of many entities, both public and private. Many of this joint effort is based upon the principle that a robust exchange of information about threats to and actual attacks on critical infrastructures is a critical element for successful infrastructure protection. The following, of course, are just a few of the entities that are dedicated to this principle: The National Infrastructure Protection Center, headed up by Mr. Dick; the...
