Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2010. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 254 x 203 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Brad James Finlay is a handsome young guy with a University degree, you d never guess that once he was homeless, sociopathic and indigent. His book of cartoonish drawings and irreverent musings is a 48 page romp in the land of homelessness, mental illness and poverty - Boggles Brown illuminates a variety of eclectic social phenomena. Have you ever wondered what it was like to rummage through a garbage can looking for half eaten pizza, or what it feels like to sleep on cold concrete or how it felt waiting for the doors to open at a Church for a place to sleep with a hundred other homeless, more than a few mentally ill people? Sunset (in the land of schizophrenia) a poem c. 2000 AD The sun rises in the east, west is where it sets Sometimes I go through a whole day, doing what I forget Time stands still, I falter, I walk to the beach, stare at the water The horizon is before me, scattered over a million miles An old couple passes, the woman looks at me - I smile The sun rises in the east, west is where it sets Sometimes I go through a whole day, doing what I forget Catholic boys aren t allowed any toys, not until heaven I remember the number of sins that are deadly, isn t it seven? I call my shrink to tell him how I feel down deep inside He tells me the best thing to do is probably run and hide The moon is high, into the deep dark corners of the night I go I have a friend...
