The long term of service of the principal executive officer of the Institution, and the few changes in the presiding officer of the Board of Regents, have been attended with the important result of an uninterrupted continuity in the policy of the management of the establishment. A definite conception of the will of Smithson, and of the means best adapted to realize its intention, was clearly apprehended at the beginning, and a plan proposed and partially adopted which would carry out, in the most effectual manner, the ideas expressed in the terms of the bequest. Unfortunately Congress did not delegate to the Board of Regents the power of entirely organizing the Institution, but specified certain objects which should be included in the plan adopted. It will, however, be seen by an examination of the whole series of annual reports, that while due regard has been had to the requirements of Congress, the prominent object kept constantly in view has been the full introduction of the plan of increasing and diffusing knowledge by means of researches, publications, and exchanges. This plan, which is known as that of active operations, and which has received the approbation of the scientific world, was not generally understood at the time of the organization...
