BLOODAXE BOOKS LTD, United Kingdom, 2009. Paperback. Condition: New. New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Pauline Stainer is a poet working at the margins of the sacred , conveying sensations with an economy of means that is breathtaking.her poems are not merely artefacts, they have an organic life of their own - John Burnside. Her new collection, Crossing the Snowline , charts her return to life after numbing grief. These luminous poems are a testament of recovery, renewal and redemption. Pauline Stainer writes: I think this collection, varied as it is, is primarily the record of my journey out of long fallow after the death of my daughter. It s not confessional, but explores obliquely the nature of that fallow, and the necessity of living by light even in darkness. Many things inform the poems: my learning to paint (the swirling oxides), light on landscape in different places, Suffolk, Orkney, India, Japan, and the Azores. For a time, grief took away the magical currency of the word - a strange experience for a poet. I had to wait with the patience of one of those pack animals from the salt desert, for an upbeat - the pressure of sap in sunlight on ground of vermilion. And yes, the light is different. Its after light. But I m still driven to catch in words the stars and their electric circus, and to write in praise of flying squirrels .
