Not illustrated. 1854 edition. Excerpt: .Have we not seen them happy, exceedingly happy, in the time of their deepest affliction? Yes, when every thing of a temporal nature seemed to be against them, they have been enabled to say with the prophet-- Although the fig-tree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vine: the labour of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield no meat: the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stall; yet will I rejoice in the Lord; I will joy in the God of my salvation. Thank God, for that religion which can sustain us in the day of severest trial, and give us rich consolation amid scenes of deepest affliction, can give us a young heaven begun below, and glory in the bud! The people here, will say, said the late venerated Moses Hoge, when dying in Philadelphia, away from his home-- the people here will say, Poor old man! Why, exclaimed he, I am the happiest man in Philadelphia! My dear sister, said I to a beloved member of my church, who was near her end-- my dear sister, how do you find yourself this morning? Grasping my hand, with much emotion, she replied, My dear pastor, I am in pain, in great pain; but...
