Thoughts on the Abuses of the Present System of Competition in Architecture, with an Outline of a Plan for Their Remedy: In a Letter to Earl de Grey, President of the Royal Institute

By Henry Austin

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Thoughts on the Abuses of the Present System of Competition in Architecture, With an Outline of a Plan for Their Remedy: In a Letter to Earl De Grey, President of the Royal Institute of British Architects I shall now take the liberty of proposing for your Lordship s consideration, an outline of a plan for placing competitions on a fairer founda tion. Whatever the objections to the contem plated change may be, it is, at least, so simple its nature, and so easy of adoption, thati think; all parties Interested in removing the abuses of the present system, would gladly see the experiment tried; and I will be bold to say, that few difficulties-save such as are of a nature that a few well considered rules would readily over come - would be found in its path. But as you, my Lord, will at once be able to judge of the general feasibility of the scheme I propose, I will lay it before you without further preface, merely reserving to myself an opportunity of remarking; brie?y, in conclusion, on such points...
