Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Do you want exotic hair without paying an exotic price? Possessing healthy hair that is full of body and shine is easy to achieve.if you just know how. Every woman wants hair that is equivalent to a super model s - shiny, smooth, voluminous, and, of course, manageable. We see these super models selling a variety of shampoos, conditioners, and hair treatments while flaunting their beautiful hair in magazines and on television ads. But did you know that using these products can actually do more harm than good? Commercial shampoos contain a variety of chemicals and unnecessary additives and preservatives that cause damage, not only to your hair, but also to your entire body. One of the most commonly used ingredients is Triethanolamine, which is responsible for cancer and hormonal imbalances. This harsh ingredient also causes sensitive scalps, skin sensitivities, and long-term use can create dry and lifeless hair - which is the actual opposite effect that the advertisements claim. So you buy the shampoo in the hopes that it will improve your hair, and it does - for a few months. But then you notice that your hair starts to become dull and limp.so you buy more shampoo. And so the cycle continues. By making your own homemade shampoos and hair treatments you can achieve beautiful hair without abusing it with an overabundance of synthetic chemicals and toxins. Plus, homemade shampoo is relatively inexpensive when considering how many bottles of commercial shampoo you use up each year.
