

Unwrapping Wonder: Finding Hope in the Gift of Nature

By Carol O'Casey

Cladach Publishing. Paperback. Condition: New. Matthew Kondratieff (illustrator). 224 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 5.9in. x 0.7in. Heading technologys cry to get connected can result in overloaded circuits of the mind. Frenetic connections cause frazzled lives. Unwrapping Wonder: Finding Hope in the Gift of Nature will restore the readers soul as they step outside to cultivate a connection with creation and, in the process, deepen their relationship with the Creator. This delightful mix of natural history, human story and Gods glory found in everyday nature is based on Jobs words: But ask the animals, and they will teach you, or the birds of the air, and they will tell you . . . or let the fish of the sea inform you. Each chapter focuses on one natural object such as the bee, the barnacle, the tiniest seed. By peering within the ordinary, we can learn to see details which reveal extraordinary wonder. As we unwrap the gift, we discover more of nature, God, and ourselves, one wonder at a time. Unwrapping Wonder is for active men and women and families who enjoy the outdoors or reading about nature, and for those needing hope in a hectic world. Each chapter offers: The...

Reviews

This written publication is wonderful. It really is loaded with knowledge and wisdom You will not really feel monotony at at any time of your time (that's what catalogues are for relating to if you ask me).

-- Desmond Becker

Absolutely essential go through publication. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. You will not feel monotony at at any time of the time (that's what catalogues are for regarding if you ask me).

-- Ambrose Thompson II