The size, shape, and nervation of these leaves are substantially identical with those of Point of Rocks, and until fruit is found for both it will be necessary to regard them as the same species, the significance of which, in tending to homologizo the upper and lower districts of the Laramie group, has already been commented upon (see Sixth Annual Report, . 514). The very perfect specimens collected both by Dr. White and myself at Burus s Ranch show the nature of the plant almost as well as a living specimen could do and demonstrate its complete analogy with the recent forms in its habit of growth. Hitherto only detached leaves had beeu seen, and the generic reference was made by Prof. Lcsquereux, with evident reserve, from the nervation alone. The correctness of this determination is now fully established and goes far to vindicate the oft-disputed claim of vegetable paleontologists that this character alone may in most cases be trusted to show the nature of extinct floras, provided the work be performed by competent investigators.
