CASCADE BOOKS, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 211 x 137 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Race and privilege are issues that cry out for new kinds of attention and healing in American society. More specifically, we are being called to surface the dynamics of whiteness especially in contexts where whites have had the most power in America. The church is one of those contexts--particularly churches that have traditionally been seen as the stalwarts of the American religious landscape: mainline Protestant churches. Theologians and Presbyterian ministers Mary McClintock Fulkerson and Marcia Mount Shoop invite us to acknowledge and address the wounds of race and privilege that continue to harm and diminish the life of the church. Using Eucharist as a template for both the church's blindness and for Christ's redemptive capacity, this book invites faith communities, especially white-dominant churches, into new ways of re-membering what it means to be the body of Christ. In a still racialized society, can the body of Christ truly acknowledge and dress the wounds of race and privilege? Re-membering Christ's broken and betrayed body may be just the healing path we need. The problem this volume addresses--the quiet, subtle way race deforms predominantly white, Presbyterian congregations--couldn't be more timely. Its authors bring to this fraught subject a well-honed commitment to racial justice and a wealth of experience in Presbyterian congregational life. . . . Clergy, scholars, and laity have much to gain from this insightful and accessible blend of trenchant academic analysis, theological wisdom, and genuine compassion. --Ellen T. Armour, Carpenter Associate Professor of Feminist Theology, Vanderbilt Divinity School [This book] guides us through the painful process of acknowledging the existence of racism in the church. It calls us to the difficult spiritual practice...
