Among the parts not mentioned by Sully1) as subject to ticklishness might also be mentioned the palate and the lips or any part rendered more or less sensitive, as in the case of sores. The palate, in many cases at least, may be tickled by having the tip of the tongue pass lightly backwards or forwards over its surface. In certain physical moods such ticklishness with me is almost unbearable. The reactions observable upon the recovery by a limb of its normal condition after having been asleep are identical in some respects with certain phenomena of tickling. A German child remarked in my hearing that champagne schmeckte ebenso wie eingeschlafene Fiisse. In visual and auditory perception there may be induced some of the phenomena of tickling. A medical friend of mine informs me that certain notes in deep solemn music affect his epigastric muscles in a sort of shock reaction. The quivering can be induced by false notes at times. As to the...
