Date :2008-01. This book is the general higher education Eleventh Five-Year national planning materials. Since the 1997 publication of the first three edition of materials. selection of appropriate. focused on basic parts. concise content. breadth and depth appropriate. moderate difficulty. Bo multi-level teaching requirements. 4th edition textbook based on the original. focusing on the theory and concepts of the discussion. a typical example of the analysis. enhanced ability to analyze problems. to adapt to the 21st century. personnel training requirements. The materials sub-statics. kinematics and dynamics. and mechanics of materials three volumes. Static volumes of six chapters. including: the basic concepts of statics and by trying. plane converging system of forces. torque and flat-couple system. the general plane system of forces. friction. space force. and gravity and so on. Kinematics and dynamics of volumes eleven chapters. including: point of the exercise. the basic rigid body movement. the synthesis of movement points. rigid body planar motion. the particle equations of motion. rigid body around a fixed axis of rotation differential equations. static and dynamic methods. kinetic energy theorem. the theorem of momentum and angular momentum theorem. vibration. virtual displacement method. Mechanics of Materials Volume total of ten chapters. including: axial tension and compression. shear. torsion. bending force. bending stress. bending and statically indeterminate beams. the stress state and strength theory. the combination of the intensity of deformation structures. the stability of struts . the mechanical properties. This book can serve as institutions of higher learning metallurgy. materials. thermal processing energy power. mining. instruments. textiles. food. chemical. environmental and relevant professional materials are also available for independent colleges. vocational. adult college students and related...
