H., In 1652: And Some of His Descendants Nock. This was the way he wrote his name and his original signature may yet be seen in the archives of Rockingham county at Exeter. He was a young man when he came to Dover, and was a farmer. From what country he came is not known, though presumably from England or Scotland. His posterity varied the orthography of the paternal name in a variety of ways, and among old documents and records it is found variously written Nook.
