Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Development of the Ontario High School The purpose of the present work is to trace the growth of the public secondary school in Upper Canada from the Act of 1807, which laid the foundation by establishing the first District Public Schools, down to the time when it developed its present form. The institution being over a century old, it appears to be high time that some connected account of its origin and progress should be written. It is only by looking back over the course that has been travelled, that we can appreciate the secondary school as it stands to-day or can steer our future course in such a way as to avoid the rocks that are sure to be encountered in the future as in the past. This task has not, up to the present time, been undertaken except in the brief compass of an encyclopaedia article, or disjointedly in the general histories of education. Among the topics that will require discussion are the evolution of the present curriculum, the financial support and...
