Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Text-Book of Embryology, Vol. 1 The design of this Text-book of Embryology, of which this is the first volume, is to associate the structural development of embryos with broad generalizations of what is known of their physiology. Attention will be drawn, for instance, to the correlation between the function of certain organs of a larva and its habit of life, and, in a more general way, between function and habit and the course of development. Reference will be made to some of the more striking results obtained by Experimental Embryological research. Attention will be drawn to gaps in our knowledge which indicate promising fields for research. It is hoped that the interest of all students of Embryology will thus be stimulated, and the practical value of these volumes, especially for students of medicine, ensured. A second volume, by Professor Graham Kerr, in which the lower Vertebrata will be dealt with, will follow as soon as possible, and a third volume by Mr. Richard Assheton, on Mammals, will complete the work. The Authors are responsible for the facts and generalizations recorded, and to them is due all the credit which may be given to the work.
