David is a man who grew up during the Cold War years in a time when his world condemns the Soviet Union without understanding the people and places. He developed a fascination with Russia because of the events he lived, the dread of nuclear war, the Cuban missile crisis, as well as Hollywood's favorite bad guy of those times, the Soviets. His coincident dread and curiosity later became eager anticipation, and a decade after the fall of communism he decided he must travel there to find for himself what surprises Russia held for him. You will enter David's mind and heart and thrill with him, as he discovers that feelings know no physical barriers and are only subject to fate and time. We discover also that Siberia is a real place with real people. The story is hilarious at times, simply trying to get a taxi or order...
