

Confessions of a Converted Infidel: With Lights and Shades of Itinerant Life, and Miscellaneous Sketches (Classic Reprint)

By Thomas Warton Professor Of English Literature John Bayley Sir

Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.9in. Excerpt from Confessions of a Converted Infidel: With Lights and Shades of Itinerant Life, and Miscellaneous Sketches Without money, with scarcely a friend in the world, except my two sisters and a brother, who all needed friends as much or more than myself, with no education, save the merest rudiments of reading and writing in my mother tongue, and with a delicate physical constitution, I was at an early age thrown into the world to earn my bread by the sweat of my brow, and in my leisure hours to grapple with questions about life, death, immortality, God, heaven, and hell. I was like a poor, puny child a boat on a wide, wide sea, without apparent strength or help to make a far-off shore. What a mercy that my frail little bark did not go down under the shock of some ruthless wave. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct...

 READ ONLINE
[4.01 MB]

Reviews

This book may be really worth a read through, and far better than other. it was actually writtern extremely completely and valuable. I am just very easily will get a satisfaction of looking at a published ebook.

-- Lillie Toy

It is easy in read through easier to fully grasp. it had been writtern very completely and useful. I am pleased to let you know that here is the greatest book we have read during my personal life and could be he very best book for possibly.

-- Miss Marge Jerde