THE LIBRARY CHRONICLE, VOL. 4: A JOURNAL OF LIBRARIANSHIP AND BIBLIOGRAPHY; SEPTEMBER, 1887 (CLASSIC REPRINT) (PAPERBACK)

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Library Chronicle, Vol. 4: A Journal of Librarianship and Bibliography; September, 1887 I pass over the pressing or rolling, because pressing only gives the book a better or firmer feel, and it has nothing to do with its strength. If we examine a book, bound say 200 years ago, we find the whole of the binder s craft in the sewing. The thread used was made from hemp or ?ax now we often use a material made of, well, hardly hemp. Each sheet was sewn round the bands, of which there were never less than four, in many cases six, eight, and more, and we even find the headband worked round a cord which formed and gave further strength to hold all together. N ow, if a book be sewn with bad thread on three bad cords, it is considered by the binder to be very well done and if the book should fall to pieces in a short time, it is nothing more than he expected and he gets the book back for rebinding, to his benefit and your cost. I have here a sample of the hempen thread which ought to be used. I should like it to be understood that I speak of what is done by some houses in the trade and that I complain of none. I tell you what to look for and what to correct: the cost of such correction will rest between you and your binder. The cost of the hempen thread per lb. is about 25. 6d., the common thread is is. 6d. Arnett in the introduction to his Art of Bookbinding which probably you all have, quotes one of the...
