Definitely among the best ebook I have actually go through. I have read and i also am confident that i am going to likely to read once again once again later on. I am just very happy to explain how this is actually the finest publication i have read in my own daily life and could be he greatest pdf for at any time.

Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Other and Other Pieces The last faint, drowsy notes of tired birds, And shadows softly stealing over all Rest, rest and peace. And so the Abbot came And found me standing, quiet and alone. He bade me follow him, and twice we walked The gravelled path, nor spake he aught to me, Until at last Tell me, my son, he said, Grow we a thornless rose in this our garden? Why, no, my Lord, I answered, whereupon He fell to musing, and the shadows crept About our feet. Again he slowly spake, You love this garden, and these ?owers, son? Aye, dearly, my good Lord. He said no more, But looked upon me with his sad grave eyes. So must the Christ have often looked, I think. At last he spake again, The ?owers are well, But, tell me, hast thou never thought, my son, Of those more priceless ?owers of our God, That perish hour by hour, and day by day Uncared for and unloved, that fade and fall And rot amid the foulness of our cities? Son, Christ and Holy Church hath need of them, These blighted human souls in blighted bodies, These loveless ones, for whom no ?owers bloom, For whom tis winter, winter, all the day, The little day called life; my heart most bleeds For helpless children, seared with awful age, With minds and bodies filled with gaping sores, Babes crushed and broken neath the pain 0 the world. My son, this is thine hour; thou must go hence, Bearing God s gracious ?owers of love, compassion, And carry hands of healing to their sores, And bind their gn evous wounds, and lead them home.
