I suppose, in the end, it really comes down to a choice you have to make yourself--live in the shadows because it s much easier, or chase the small glimmers of gold, choosing to believe that, if you follow them, they will lead you to oceans of it. That s what we were doing, chasing the glimmers of gold. We needed something to believe in again, my two best friends and me. After disastrous relationships and a dead-end, grunt labor job, we were burnt out on life and even more burnt out on men. The only thing that made us happy, that we all had in common, was a metal band we adored. So, on a whim, we had decided we would follow them on their tour across the West Coast. We needed some adventure, some fun, a step out of normality. What we got was mayhem. And what I got was a cocky, sexy security guard who was determined to pursue me despite my less than encouraging attitude. I had expected an adventure. What I d received was a lesson in life, and a lesson in love. Some untouchable stars are not always out of reach, and sometimes real life can be better than fiction. About the Author: Brianna Robertson If someone were to ask me what I am, it could be summed up in one, simple word: Dreamer. Ever since I was a small child my imagination has run wild. I have been telling stories for as long as I can remember, creating grand worlds in my head and going on adventures that were invisible to others around me. Am I eccentric? Yes. Am I proud of that? Absolutely....
