Excerpt: . . . the Eucharist, for bare memorials of things absent; neither for naked signs and testimonies, assuring us of grace received before; but, (as they are indeed, and in verity,) for means effectual, whereby God, when we take the Sacraments, delivers into our hands that grace available unto eternal life, which grace the sacraments represent, or signify. --Eccles. Polity, Book 5, Sec. 57. It is my serious conviction, also, that in the principles here plainly and simply pointed out, the present Disputants on the subject of Baptismal and Spiritual Regeneration (as I shall perhaps take an opportunity of shewing), may find a solution of all their real or fancied difficulties. Note C. (page 14). --The Doctrines of the Trinity, the Atonement, Sfc. Should there be any readers who require to be instructed with respect to the truth of these doctrines, I would recommend to them the...
