Robert Shackelford Publisher, United States, 2010. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . New edition of a classic study on how the public investment that cities make on infrastructure and services creates a fully sufficient tax base for the support and maintenance of those services. But instead, cities let those investments accrue to land value, and must resort to punitive, counter-productive taxation. Gilbert Tuckers offers a program for any city to move from self-destruction to economic sanity and prosperity.
