Greeks used it to designate their early meal in the morning, which was not a full meal, but only light eating, similar to our lunch. It is here used in the broader sense of feeding or eating. Lovest. Two different words are represented by the English word love. The distinction between the two cannot easily be represented in English. See below. Feed. Again this represents two Greek words quite different in meaning. One implies the giving of food suitable for the persons. The second term in v. 16 implies a care-taking such as the shepherd has over his flock. LESSON EXPOSITION. I. Jesus Kecognizeb.--Jesus stood on the shore, v. 4. Seven apostles appear to have returned to their former mode of life--fishing on the Sea of Galilee. Jesus was watching them from the shore, but they did not recognize him. Have ye any meaif v. 5. Or, have ye aught to eat? This was a common and familiar question, which might be asked by a stranger. So it did not arouse their attention. They answered him, as they would have answered any stranger, No. Cast the net on the right side, v. 6. Why they so promptly obeyed the direction of the stranger can only be conjectured. They may have thought he could see fish, or signs of them, which they did not see. Or they may have had some unexplained feeling that it was the Lord, though they did not recognize his...
