The other aspect of efficiency is in our own internal operations, our business management practices. We have been focusing on im-proving them and the result is, as has been mentioned before, that we are no longer on the high-risk list from GAO and we have had several clean audit opinions. We would be unable to sustain those clean audit opinions if we did not make some significant changes in how we are organized. Therefore, we have opened up a service center for financial man-agement in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and we are in the process of moving people to that service center. We are going to be doing the same kind of efforts with information technology and we are also beginning the process of moving people to Albuquerque in our human resources area. We expect to reduce about 1, 300 full-time equivalents, FTEs, when we complete all of our reorganization for the business management areas. We expect to save about 91 mil-lion a year when we are fully implemented. So those changes together will make a big difference in how we can deliver the services that people want. We are also making some reforms in facilities management and we will have some proposals regarding these reforms that we can discuss more if you wish. I believe that making these commitments and implementing these changes, although they are difficult for the organization, will result in a higher percentage of our dollars getting to the ground to get the work done. In the...
