Small Stations Press, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Miguel Abad (illustrator). 203 x 133 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In this second instalment of the saga by Elena Gallego Abad devoted to the Galician dragon Dragal, the schoolboy Hadrian, who with his friend Monica discovered the dragon s remains in the catacombs under St Peter s Church, is locked in a struggle with the dragon to see who will come out on top. Monica has promised to take some food to the Moor s Pool, where her friend has gone for refuge, but is unsure what dragons eat when they re not devastating the local population. Before setting out, however, she receives strange, handwritten messages of warning, telling her not to go. She seeks help - first from the parish priest, Father Xurxo, who produces an ancient box containing three objects that might be the Grand Master s keys, and then from a police officer, Cortinas, who turns out to have a vested interest in the dragon s well-being. When Hadrian goes missing, his mother calls the police, but only Monica knows where he really is. Will she inform the police and break her promise not to reveal where he is hiding? If she does, will the police be in time to save her friend, and what will become of the dragon he has started to turn into? Elena Gallego Abad, often described as the Galician J. K. Rowling, has published four novels about the Galician dragon Dragal. The first novel, Dragal I: The Dragon s Inheritance, is also available in English from Small Stations Press. Other titles in the series Galician Wave include: Black Air and Winter Letters by Agustin Fernandez Paz, Dove and Cut Throat by Fina Caslderrey, The Painter...
