Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Socialized Recitation: A Study in Method With Stenographic Reports of Actual Recitations These pages present a method and plan for the use of the socialized recitation as developed in one elementary school, and adopted by many teachers elsewhere with great success. This contribution to the subject is addressed to teachers who are seeking a way to bring about or foster in their classes the initiative and independence that modern education demands. It is a small attempt toward making the schools safe for democracy. Now, the vital thing about socialized or democratized class-work is not at all the form of procedure, but the spirit and attitude of the pupils. The form in which the class carries on its work may vary infinitely, and yet the interchange and crystallization of ideas, the discussion and planning, and all the give-and-take of group life can not go on at random. Just in proportion to the energy and complexity of the initiative is the need for orderly procedure. Form, restraint and control, if they come from within, do not...
