Circling is a group conversation practice that usually lasts an hour to an hour and a half, involving 3 to 9 people. Circling is part of a rapidly-growing worldwide movement called Authentic Relating. It is already available in over 70 cities, and from anywhere via online webconferencing. Why Circle? Circling is a unique developmental practice that is about getting somebody's world, being seen and accepted for who we really are, and feeling connected to other human beings and part of a larger whole. Circling may also be our best modern-day hope for creating a kinder and gentler society, one that would be less polarized and more attuned to real human needs. And on top of all this, Circling is super-fun and very affordable! What will you learn in this book? This book will guide you, in a short (handbook) format and with many examples, into Circling effectively. It is a compact introduction to a relational art form that you can practice in all of your human relationships, both in and out of formal Circles. About the Author Marc Beneteau is an author, entrepreneur, community builder, and self-described love revolutionary. This is his third book, and it distills his 30 years of research and practice in building community, emotional communication and the psychology of love. Find him on his website,
