Excerpt from Coals Available for the Manufacture of Illuminating Gas The Michigan Gas Association took a step in the right direction when, in continuation of its cooperative research work with the department of chemical engineering of the University of Michigan, it erected in 1906, at Ann Arbor, Mich., a complete experiment station for the study of illuminating-gas manufacture. Much patient experimenting was done in designing this plant, and. Many changes were made in its operation before results were procured which were intelligible and could be compared with those obtained at gas works. The experiment station, as it now stands, represents the best thought of many gas engineers who freely gave their time to perfecting it.
