As Obamacare flounders and the Farm Bill languishes on the debate room floor, it is time that Americans address the intimate connection between food and medicine. While continuing to subsidize the production of processed foods (high fat animal products and refined carbohydrates), the government is now demanding that the healthy, uninsured minority fund a flawed medical system designed to profit off the very diseases diabetes, heart disease, and cancer - caused by fast food consumption. Until we acknowledge the effect that cheap calories, made cheap by government aid, have on the record breaking rates of obesity and other dietary diseases plaguing this country, the broken system will not change; and yet, without the participation of the healthy minority, the system will collapse. This puts the new one percent, as the author calls them, in a position of power that is unprecedented, and they have the once in a lifetime opportunity to demand true reform of a system that is uncoordinated, wasteful, and corrupt on both ends and usher in the true prosperity that is humanity's goal and purpose. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
