Education, in the general sense of the term, may be defined the art of training, instructing the mind and forming the character of the young. According to this definition, the education of youth not only embraces the instruction given for the regulation of his manners and his improvements in literature, science and morals, but every opinion he has imbibed and every habit he has aquired, either from his associations, from the reflections of his own mind or from reading the thoughts and sentiments of others. It farther includes the regulation of his propensities and passions, and that self-government which will...
