Legenda. Hardcover. Condition: New. 198 pages. Dimensions: 9.6in. x 6.7in. x 0.5in. Not only did Isak Dinesen (Karen Blixen, 1885-1962) read the works of her fellow-countryman, the Danish philosopher Sren Kierkegaard (1813-1855), closely, she also created a surprisingly large number of tales that critically engage Kierkegaards works. In this thorough comparative study, Mads Bunch uncovers Dinesens exploration of Kierkegaard and shows how Dinesen in her tales subverts major ideas from Kierkegaards works concerning Christianity, seduction, gender and repetition. Bunch also shows how Dinesens critical engagement with the ideas of Kierkegaard runs throughout her oeuvre and develops from the early tale Carnival (1926-27) to The Dreamers (1934), The Pearls (1942), Babettes Feast (1950) and her last tale Ehrengard (1963). Bunchs close readings reveal that Dinesens ironical counter-tales concerning Kierkegaard border at times on sheer parody. Mads Bunch is an Assistant Professor at the University of Copenhagen. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Hardcover.
