There is an atmosphere of suppressed excitement, for which Billy is chiefly responsible. Billy (stepping back into the room). There s nothing there now! What sport this is! (He has another look out.) Not a mouse stirring (he adds, his knowledge of Hamlet being vague) There s a jolly cold wind. Cartwright. Shut the window. No, don t bolt it. yet. just pull it to. Billy. It must be nearly the time. When did they say they saw it? Cartwright. About now, I think. Well, I m getting tired. They probably imagined it. (He takes a cigarette from his own case and lights a match which he takes from the mantelpiece.) Anyhow, if the man s been about three nights without getting anything, there s no reason to suppose he should come again. Billy (suddenly stopping en he walks towards the fire.) What s that? (The flame of the match in the dark room lights up Frank s face as he...
